

Matter Centre

Kingsley Napley Turns To FWBS To Significantly Improve Matter Management & Marketing capability

Dated – January 18th, 2010

FWBS Ltd, announced today that Kingsley Napley has selected Matter Centre from FWBS to manage its business processes, and drive client & matter procedure improvement firm-wide.

Kingsley Napley, a leading UK-based law firm, wanted to model and automate processes, refine its documentation storage & retrieval procedures, and to drive efficiency. In addition they needed to create a 360 degree view of its clients and contacts using a unified interface. To tackle these challenges, Kingsley Napley will deploy FWBS Matter Centre; selected after a comprehensive review of the market to replace existing Lexis Nexis software.

“The current business climate means that we need to provide our firm with the technology to support optimum performance,” said Laura Brown, IT Development Manager at Kingsley Napley. “Since the FWBS Matter Centre solution will dramatically improve our ability to serve clients, and deliver a quick return on investment, the case to purchase was compelling. Having reviewed the software extensively, we’re confident that we will have the flexibility and control we’ve been looking for in bringing comprehensive firm wide matter, contact and client relationship management capability to our diverse legal practice.”

Mark Craddock, sales & marketing director at FWBS added, “FWBS are providing industry leading productivity gains to legal staff firm-wide, with ease of adoption. We are delighted to help Kingsley Napley improve management of all its matters & processes using our Matter Centre solution.”

About FWBS

Established in 1997, FWBS has led the way in providing leading-edge technologies to meet the demands faced by law firms & corporate legal departments worldwide.

The Matter Centre product forms the core of an expanding suite of solutions from FWBS, which enable legal professionals to have tangible improvement to productivity and therefore profitability, with ease of deployment. It provides versatile, client & matter centric information management, Case/work flow, Contact management, resource control and reporting for the whole firm, all from within the Microsoft Office suite.

For more information visit our new web site at www.fwbs.net

Contact Mark Craddock at mc@fwbs.net for any further information.

About Kingsley Napley

Internationally recognised law firm Kingsley Napley LLP specialises in criminal litigation and regulatory law, corporate and commercial, dispute resolution, real estate, employment, business immigration as well as clinical negligence and personal injury, family law and private client.

For further information, please visit <http://www.kingsleynapley.co.uk/>